Personal recollections of the year:

Barry Vanwest: "I have a memory of hitting the ball out-of-bounds off the tee on hole 15 and holing my third shot for a par 4."

Brad Osborn: "In one of the many classic matchups between Brian Gruel and myself this year, we came to the 9th hole with the close duel on our minds. We both reached for the driver and ripped a drive towards the pin. Once we reached the beginning of the British Open-like rough, it became obvious neither of us made it over and we lay somewhere within the tall stuff. After searching our allotted "5 minutes", all within the 4-some pretty much gave up looking, when Brian called us all back. He pointed to where we thought one of the balls rested, only to find both our drives were sharing the same space, one laying on top of the other. A classic moment during a fun, but short for me, year."

Andrew: "I had a near double-eagle in field day #1. I couldn't hit a 3 wood much cleaner, but had to settle for a lousy eagle. Also hit a huge drive week eight on #15 (our only long par-4) and approached using a 9 iron. Hit the green and bounced over, found out that I went barely OB and ended up taking an X ! Sometimes the drive means absolutely nothing!"

So how did Scott and Barry respond when I asked them about each of their X's on the very first hole this year?:

Scott Robins: "I hit a ball down the right, just off the fairway and never found it."

Barry Vanwest: "If I remember right I hit Chris Hill's ball by mistake starting with the second shot."

Bob Berres: "Well there was the time when Miles hit the side of Gordy's restaurant on #9. His ball bounced back into play just off the back side of the green. That's was pretty cool but probably pretty common with the Re-Tees.
